Founder | Two Face Investigations

Having spent nearly 14 years in the NSW Police Force, Kylee trained in areas such as negotiation, undercover, intelligence, child protection and a designated detective.

Kylee then moved to hospitality where she owned and operated over 5 large venues.

During her two different careers, she had undertaken a Business Law Degree, the company Directors Course, a Crisis Negotiation Degree and served as a non-executive director on a board!

In 2023 Kylee create Two Face Investigations, where she investigates - on behalf of victims of romance scams and educates all about this deceptive, evil, and manipulative world.

Going undercover as a 67-year-old man and a 62 year old female has taken Kylee into this world where she has experienced firsthand what it is like to engage with scammers

Kylee's Topic: Scams and Shame – How did we get here...

Shame is attached to scams...which is having a negative impact on how we report them. There is a significant amount of negative language not only from victims but their family and friends. Sharing one's story so that others can learn from it is where we need to be. Understanding the tactics the scammers use can help up eradicate this from our landscape. Witnessing the worst of human behaviour and talking about it can have apposite impact on recovery.
